

Case Reports BMJ Case Rep. 2025 May 12;18(5):e260883. doi: 10.1136/bcr-2024-260883.

Glioblastoma with metastasis to the bone marrow

Zhixin Jiang <sup>1</sup>, Chunyu Cai <sup>2</sup>, Nawal Shaikh <sup>3</sup>, William Hyman <sup>3</sup>

Affiliations

PMID: 40355275 DOI: 10.1136/bcr-2024-260883

Abstract

Extraneural metastasis of glioblastoma (GBM) is rare but expected to increase in incidence as patients live longer. We present a rare case of GBM that has metastasised to the bone marrow shortly after completing standard of care treatment. This case highlights the importance of having a high index of suspicion, using next-generation sequencing testing and the urgent need for further research to identify treatment options for this population.

Keywords: Neurooncology; Oncology.

© BMJ Publishing Group Limited 2025. No commercial re-use. See rights and permissions. Published by BMJ Group.

PubMed Disclaimer